Quote of the week
*"Here is your country. Cherish these natural wonders, cherish the natural resources, cherish the history and romance as a sacred heritage, for your children and your children's children. Do not let selfish men or greedy interests skin your country of its beauty, its riches or its romance."
— Theodore Roosevelt*

Congratulations are in order to British Movement. Formed in 1968 by the late Colin Jordan it is still in existence and 2018 marks 50 years of BM in the struggle. I have left a Fraternal Greeting on the BM Sunwheel blog and I would encourage to do likewise, to express their solidarity with the White men and women of British Movement.

Trump Triumphant! - And a Brown Snowflake gets all worried ..in his very own words

Read between the lines from this piece published recently by Asian Maajid Nawaz (surely a Yorkshire lad?) This Asian liberal is a worried man - Trump has opened the gates of Nawaz's private nightmare! Now read on..

LONDON—How did internet trolls—the kind who lurk under the line on comments sections—come to hijack modern political discourse? How is it that they not only tapped into populist rage, but have led the storming of the White House under President-elect Donald Trump? By now you've probably seen a fair amount about what's called the alt-right, as these characters call themselves. But their gains could not have been so great or come so quickly without what we might call the ctrl-left, or without the real problem of theocratic Islamism cynically exploited by both for their own ends.

These days it is common to see analogies between this new right movement and old fascism and Nazism—indeed, some flaunt those connections—but one of movement's greatest loyalties is to neologism.

The alt-right found multiple ways to turbo-boost Trump's campaign. Sending their mascot Pepe the Frog viral, they grew out of websites like 4chan, the Right Stuff, and American Renaissance.

The term alt-right was popularized by White Nationalist Richard Spencer, founder of Alternative Right and Taki Magazine. The movement rose to political significance through the 2014 Gamergate controversy—a fierce clash that arose between video gamers and some critics, when gaming was put under the lens of progressive cultural criticism. Ann Coulter's book Adios, America! The Left's Plan to Turn Our Country Into a Third World Hellhole has become a key text, directly influencing Trump's views on immigration.

Gay masculinists such as Jack Donovan, who edited Alternative Right's gender articles, were also key forerunners. Feeling betrayed by the economic globalization free-for-all of establishment Republicans, natural conservatives who prefer homogeneity over diversity migrated, too, to the alt-right.

Many, like libertarian PayPal founder Peter Thiel, who no longer believes that freedom and democracy are compatible, advocate that the U.S. should be run like a large company with a CEO at its head. Much of this is influenced by what's called Neoreaction (NRx) thought, also known as the Dark Enlightenment: less democracy, a large government, run by a strongman figure. Mussolini, anyone? Drawing on currents like the new European far-right, Richard Spencer uses the term “identitarian” to describe white ethno-nationalism, a “homeland for all white people, all European people.” He has said, “‘ethnic-cleansing’ has been associated with civil war and mass murder (understandably so). But this need not be the case. 1919 is a real example of successful ethnic redistribution... but done peacefully.” His Taki Magazine and Alternative Right websites regularly ponder aloud over “Jewish power and influence.” The use of the (((triple parentheses))) or “echoes” to identify and target Jews online has been a particularly dark feature of alt-right activism that originated on The Right Stuff. One group of bloggers became obsessed with the notion of scientific race differences.

Many alt-righters would prefer to think that an outright neo-Nazi element of their thought is merely left-wing scare-mongering, but a militant neo-Nazi faction called “1488” does exist as part of this movement and is openly planning racial wars for all to see, on sites like Stormfront. Although its various factions acted in concert to support Trump, the alt-right is not a cohesive organization nor a coherent ideology. It is a loose, internally conflicted phenomenon united only by what it hates. Unlike traditional conservatives it has declared open war on the establishment—the Cathedral. Culture must be taken back from the Social Justice Warriors—SJWs, and the normal people—normies, who currently dominate it. This includes fighting traditional political institutions, mainstream media, elitist academia, and a total rejection of progressive ideas around gender, sexuality, race, and immigration. These social injustice warriors, as it were, believe that the left has mobilized women, LGBT people, blacks, and other non-white, non-straight, non-males to unleash outright hatred on white men specifically, and on whites generally.

As with all ideological reactions, it builds a massive wall of rhetoric on a few grains of fact.

The left progressively tried to shut down what it considered incorrect thinking.

Thus Muslims were encouraged to cast themselves only and perpetually as victims, patronizingly assumed to have no independent agency. Whites, on the other hand, were cast as perpetual aggressors. Anyone who dared question whether immigration stances such as Angela Merkel's infamous “open door policy” were indeed wise or even safe was derided as heartless. As “polite society” took to labeling anyone who questioned this “globalist” consensus as racist or Islamophobic, many of the disillusioned turned to the rebellion of their day: They waged war against political correctness.

Shut down the Overseas Call Centres!

With the recent news that Globalist 'luvvie' and all round creep former East End Barrow boy 'made bad' is now helping the British workers by axing nearly 800 jobs from its Swansea call centre, with the site expected to be shut down by autumn next year.

The cost cutting broadband provider is intent on reducing the total number of UK customer service bases from eight to four, and centralising operations in Manchester.

These days it seems that if you telephone your bank or insurance company, you are more likely to be talking to a call-centre operator in Delhi or Mumbai rather than one based in Durham or Middlesbrough.

Overseas call centres have attracted a fair amount of controversy, which will no doubt be fuelled further by the publication of a Financial Services Authority (FSA) investigation into the offshore operations of UK financial services companies.

In recent years, a number of major banks and insurance companies - including HSBC, Lloyds TSB, Barclays, Prudential and Norwich Union - have moved call centres and claim processing departments overseas. Other companies, such as NatWest and Nationwide, have made a virtue out of the fact that they have not gone down this route.

Many of these overseas call centres are located in countries such as India, where labour costs are considerably lower than the UK,

Lower wages and lower standards fill the FSA report.

As tens of thousands of Philipinos, Chinese, Indians, Pakistanis, Indonesians and Koreans waste hours of UK Callers time with their often abysmally command of our English language, the joy of getting a Call Centre in the United Kingdom and to hear English spoken clear and intelligently brightens up the day!

Another study published last week, from market analyst Datamonitor, pointed to a sharp rise in the number of financial companies moving services overseas, Anders Maehre, the report's author, says: "We expect to see services such as mortgage processing, insurance underwriting and claims processing to be increasingly outsourced."

Sod the British White Worker as long as the banks and the shysters like the revolting Richard (often pickled) Branson is making his pennies off the backs of East Asian sweat shop labour!

Virgin Workers soon to be unemployed thanks to sweatshop Far Eastern shoddy services

Thousands of Indians answering calls from frustrated UK customers

And SOD THE BRITISH WORKER says this filthy rich Capitalist Fat Cat (note the Cheshire cat grin?)

What a successful White Nationalist MUST have to succeed (reprinted from July 2017)

Long lasting success in any human endeavour is never the result of blind luck. The achievement of a clearly defined goal, whether it be the act of walking from point "X" to point "Y", the building of a house, or the organization of a business, is always the product of three things:

1. The intellectual ability to perceive the problem involved the opposition which must be expected, and the best way to overcome that opposition to reach the goal.
2. The will and determination to do whatever may be necessary to reach the desired goal, regardless of opposition.
3. The physical means, strength, and courage to enforce and carry out the plan or fight conceived by the mind and determined by the will. If any of these three elements be lacking on one's purpose, failure is the inevitable, predictable result. A man who is too stupid to understand the various factors involved in trying to walk from point "X" to point "Y", where the path between us is a jungle infested with snakes, dangerous carnivores and fever, and who fails to arm himself with weapons and maps, medicine and other equipment will never arrive at "Y" no matter how dogged his determination or how mighty his muscles. Another man attempting the same journey, though he clearly perceives the dangers and prepares for them, and though he be mighty of muscle, will yet fail to reach "Y" if he is so irresolute and weak of will that he does not persevere at the struggle and ruthlessly use whatever force might be necessary to crush and destroy the forces opposing him. And a third man who has the intellect to perceive the dangers and to prepare for them, and the will and determination to fight his way through even with the utmost heroism, but who is frail of body and so physically weak that he cannot carry out the commands of his mind and his will cannot but succumb to the stronger adversaries he will meet.

Commander George Lincoln Rockwell
An inspiration to all White Nationalists

It is with civilizations as it is with the struggles of individual men. Dozens of great civilizations have perished because of failure in one or more of these three elements necessary in the struggle for survival. Savage societies usually perish, not so much from lack of vigorous will or lack of physical strength, as from lack of ability to perceive the real situation. Drowning in superstition and stumbling in the darkness of ignorance, they are overwhelmed by the physical forces of violent natural occurrences, catastrophes and diseases which more civilized societies have learned to overcome. On the other hand, civilizations, for all their intellectual achievements and sciences, perish most often because of failure of the will, the diminishing of the savage and ruthless drive for survival and dominance which originally created society. They become "humanitarian", selfish, and soft. They become physically weak and dependent on paid armies and police to do their fighting. The fighting spirit of honour and self-sacrifice and heroism of their ancestors gives way to a growing love of ease and luxury and cowardice masquerading as "humanitarianism".

When a civilization reaches this effete stage in its decay, only a very rare historical occurrence can halt the final collapse of the society as the decadence grows daily more apparent. Only when the dying society still has enough life-energy to produce a spiritual giant, a godlike throwback to the ancient heroism of its people who is able to shock and drive the civilization out of its natural historical night of sleep and death, in spite of the suicidal opposition of the dying peoples who long only for "peace" and the slumber of death, can a society once again rise to greatness! As we stand at the moment in a blighted wilderness where British Racial Nationalism in its truest sense has ceased to exist, none of the groups we can see around are missing one, two or three of the above. That is why there is now a vacuum - indeed a frightening vacuum - opened up which is filled by nobody and through which pour the Red scum terrorists of their Globalist masters.

We have groups dedicated to just attacking Islam. We have groups for whom Brexit is the be all and end all. We have groups who think that just stopping immigration is the answer. All of them lack one or more of the three essentials set out above and that is why I and my many veteran Comrades, toughened in the furnace of street politics MUST now step in and show the way forward.....and the best way we can do that is by bringing into life a new White Nationalist movement and/or steps in that direction!

Remembering a Nationalist Philosopher.....Gottfried Feder

Gottfried Feder's Manifesto for Breaking the Financial Slavery to Interest is one of a series of three books by the important, albeit now obscure German campaigner against parasitic debt-finance-capitalism. It was Feder who gave opposition to debt-finance and a demand for a new banking system a technical foundation without which the National Socialist economic and financial policies might not have gone beyond a vague enmity towards capitalism because of its identification with Jews. Feder attempted to interest the Munich Soviet in his ideas for banking reform, but in good Marxist fashion, this fell on deaf ears. It was left to the embryonic National Socialist group to see in Feder's ideas the means of achieving both freedom from debt-bondage and the means by which the state could assume its prime duty to issue the community's own credit limited only by its productivity and creativity. Even though, as the Reich progressed, Feder, like many other early idealists, was relegated to minor rank within the Third Reich, his fundamental ideas provided the basis for Germany's socio-economic revival while the rest of the world wallowed in Depression. In this respect Feder is Germany's equivalent to New Zealand's John A. Lee, Australia's Jack Lang, U.S.A.'s Father Charles Coughlin, and Britain's C. H. Douglas and Arthur Kitson. Feder deserves an honoured place amongst the early fighters against usury-capital, a subject which continues to be, perhaps more than ever, of vital relevance to the world.

Yet another example of lefty politicians in Westminster being completely out of touch with the rest of the country, just 20% of people oppose Home Secretary Sajid Javid's decision not to seek assurances that ISIS jihadists won't receive the death penalty in America.

Despite the outrage from the likes of Diane Abbott, Tory Ministers and much of the media, a whopping 62% of Brits told YouGov that they back the decision for the jihadis to be prosecuted somewhere they may receive the death penalty.

The general election of 1987 saw the first ever black MPs voted into the House of Commons.

Fast forward 30 years and the 2017 result has seen 52 ethnic minority MPs elected, says think tank British Future.

Of those, 32 are Labour, 19 Conservatives and one Lib Dem.

It is an increase from 41 in 2015 and the highest number ever.

They include Preet Gill, the first female Sikh MP, shadow home secretary Diane Abbott, who became the first ever black female MP in 1987, and Manchester's first Muslim MP Afzal Khan.

Operation Black Vote said many more ethnic minority candidates won in non-urban areas which showed the UK was "comfortable with its multicultural society."

Director Simon Woolley said: "More talented BME faces will help transform Parliament and inspire many more to believe that we all have a voice and a place in our society."

Steve Ballinger, director of communications for British Future, said: "It's got to be good for politics that gradually Parliament is getting closer to looking a bit more like the electorate that it serves."

He said the majority of the MPs from ethnic minorities would be sitting on Labour benches, which was partly due to the Tories not choosing enough ethnic minority candidates.

"I know there are calls within the Conservative Party to do better in that respect."

There are a lot more on the way with London now 44% NON-WHITE!

Maybe we need OPERATION WHITE VOTE?

Is it us or is Abbott getting more ugly? And where will it end?

@ Letters to the Editor

(This is a letter passed to us and written by White Nationalist, Milton Ellis to his local Job Centre.)

Dear Camilla,

I attended a sign on appointment yesterday at the Job Centre and was harassed about my political and religious beliefs by the work coach. I was told that I must change my beliefs or not express them as it would stop me getting a job. This has happened before with my usual work coach Sue Sexton (she is currently off work sick). She said I was an extremist and this resulted in a prolonged argument and much bad feeling.

I feel that I am entitled to an opinion as much as anybody else and will not change them until I am proved wrong.

I am related to Edward Chapman VC, who fought for my right to do so. I never push my ideas on anybody, but when things crop up from time to time as a Christian I believe it is my duty to promote the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth as sworn on the Bible. And I only speak if am certain of my facts, which I obtain by much reading and feel that the issue is of serious importance.

I lost my job in 2013 because I defended my beliefs about Christianity and Homosexuality based on the Bible. It states in the Old Testament that it is an abomination and not just a sin, and deserves to be punishable by death, and that in the New Testament an effeminate man cannot enter the congregation of the Lord.

I reported an incident where I was harassed by a Sodomite at my work place, but it was not taken seriously. Subsequently on another occasion I retaliated to a comment that I was ignorant by informing him that if I was, it was because I had not had anal sex, and then lost my job.

Whilst there I was threatened by the management not to express my opinion on the Holocaust. I had as much right to do so as everybody else; especially as the Ann Frank Diary and other such books were sold there from time to time by traders. To prove that I am not ignorant, bigoted, uninformed or just a hater I will quote one fact of many I could quote:

Statistics for 1919 show 615,000 Jews in the whole of Germany (Flacheninhalt und Bevokerung, October 8, 1919).

Milton Ellis - tireless British Nationalist campaigner for the Truth In History

The population then went down in later years due to Jews leaving Germany and many Jews survived the war as show by the Holocaust Survivors reparation claim numbers. So, the alleged claim that Six Million Jews were gassed in the alleged gas chambers is entirely impossible.

I have stood for the National Front in a Parliamentary Election and for the Welsh Assembly. Also, my opinions are entirely lawful and legal as far as I am aware at present, though attempts are underway to make it illegal. Which makes speaking the truth at such a time all that much more important - whilst there is still time to do it. Calling me an extremist is just name calling, and is abusive, offensive and slanderous. As I have already stated my opinions are based on much study and reading are not produced out of thin air, as hate speech is supposed to be.

Yours Sincerely,

Milton Ellis.

THE RISE AND FALL OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

Seth Tyssen

Once upon a time long long ago and far away, kids were expected to know the basic “rules of English” and be able to spell. And they were expected to know these things between the 3rd and 6th Grades, here in the U.S.

Today, we see high school and college graduates who think that “moar” spells “more,” and who would be completely unable to finish the little third-grade rhyme, “i before e, except after c, or” We’re drowning in a morass of people who don’t know the difference between “their,” “they’re,” and “there.” In fact, I once made out a list of words that I kept seeing commonly mis-spelled or misused, and it was fully a page long. I’d even see such things in professional catalogs or on screen; ladies and gentlemen, the “calvary” will not be riding to the rescue, and there is no such word as “nucular.”

When you point out such stuff, you’re derided as a “Grammar Nazi” because people angrily defend their ignorance. Many decades ago, a brilliant book called “The Peter Principle” pointed out that “people will rise to their own level of mediocrity.” Alas, that certainly seems to be the case. And it’s worse today, with the deliberate “dumbing down” that has certainly occurred in America, and perhaps elsewhere. The Establishment, the Tyrant Regime, the Robber Baron Kleptocracy, wants stupid workers that are barely smart enough to do their jobs (that includes the white-collar variety!) but will not question anything, especially of political or social importance.

This is more than a “pet peeve,” and something that annoys the heck out of me. It is a sure sign of the disintegration of our people. Losing the knowledge of your language is the first step towards losing your culture. I’m sure Prof. Henry Higgins would agree. (And if I have to explain ...)

The alt-right upended the left's moralizing. Political correctness was ridiculed by deploying racist and misogynist language for shock value against a stifling culture that came to value collective identities over individual humanity. They derisively dub this "cultural Marxism." Thus, the alt-right relish being shouted down with overused terms such as "racist," "homophobic," and "sexist."

Rather like the shrill Ms. Umbridge in the Harry Potter books, the ctrl-left's desire to control and command what people should say, how people should think, and most frustratingly of all, how people should feel, has been its great downfall.

The anomalies became most striking in attempts to describe or address Muslim communities. The sacred Western value of free speech lost out when leftists pandered to Muslim blasphemy codes. The inability to concede even an inch to the blindingly obvious fact that Islam today has something—not everything and not nothing, but something—to do with jihadist terrorism, the ctrl-left became as post-factual as it claimed the right was.

Progressive liberalism has fallen—indeed been beaten—into a coma!!! But it was obvious this would happen.

This is why the alt-right grew so quickly, almost as if from nowhere.

Rather like the Arab Uprisings that very few people saw coming, here was a revolt long stewing, and primed to suddenly boil over.

For years I have been warning that if the left did not cease infantilizing Muslims, talking down at white working classes, denigrating men, and stifling free speech, a dangerous right wing backlash—a whitelash—would hijack these causes, and we liberals would lose out.

If you keep telling people they are bigots for questioning your tactics, eventually they will reject your entire strategy.

Well, that's exactly what's happened now. John Maynard Keynes was right when he said that in the long run the market may correct itself, but in the long run we're all dead. Unchecked diversity through globalization can only take us so far. A solution would be for liberals to reject the diktats of the ctrl-left, and return to universal progressive liberalism: a genuine, skeptical, inclusive, scientific liberalism that views people as people, for the content of their character and not for the color of their skin (yes, remember that?). Only a "ctrl-left, alt-right, delete" can reset and reboot the populist

Everything You Love Will Burn: Inside the Rebirth of White Nationalism in America - by Vegas Tenold (2018) Amazon Hardcover £11.42

The dark story (for wets like Tenold), of the shocking resurgence of White Supremacist and Nationalist groups, and their path to political power

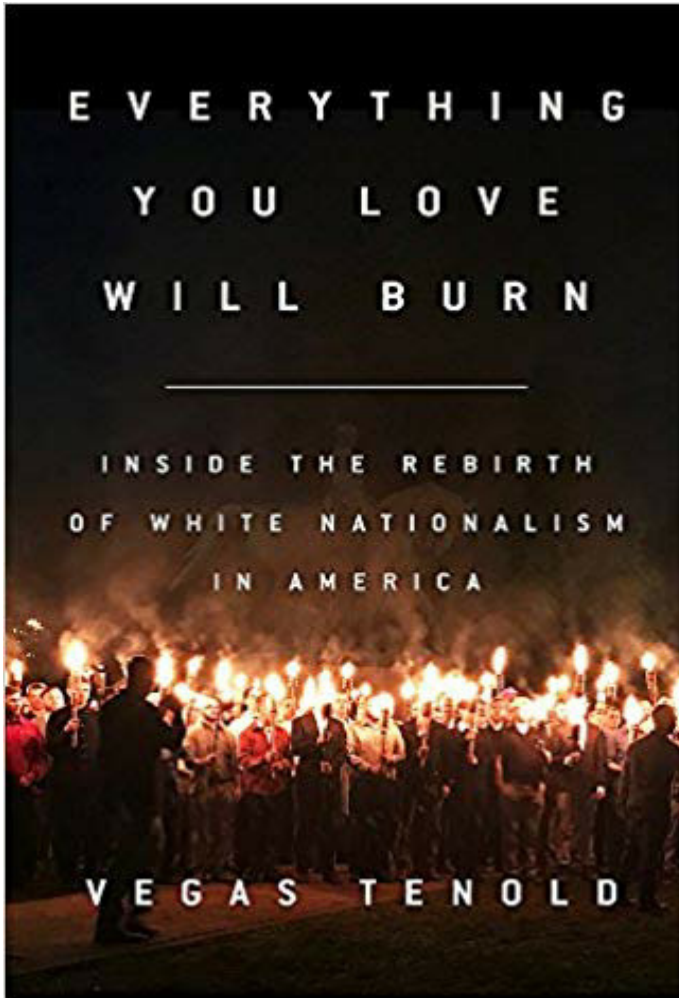

Six years ago, when Vegas Tenold began reporting from the inner circle of three White Power groups in America - the KKK, the National Socialist Movement, and the Traditionalist Workers Party - he found himself in the midst of small, disorganized groups operating well outside the mainstream.

But in the last few years, that has all changed. The Antifa motivated violence has been on open display at rallies in Charlottesville, Berkeley, Pikesville, Phoenix, and Boston. In response to economic grievances, anger over the disastrous presidency of Barack Obama and the visibility of the racially motivated hate group - "Black Lives Matter", and buoyed on by the rise of Donald Trump, membership is rising and national politicians are giving validation to these groups. One young man has emerged as a powerful figure: Matthew Heimbach of the Traditionalist Workers Party, who was once labelled the "Little Führer" by the Southern Poverty Law Center. Heimbach believes that cross burning and fight-ridden conventions are a waste of time. He understands political power, and has organized a coalition of white nationalists to bring these groups into the mainstream.

"Everything You Love Will Burn" gives readers a front-row seat at vibrant white supremacist conventions, newly formed separatist communities, and backroom meetings with Republican operatives.

We meet a neo-Nazi lieutenant and his daughter in Brooklyn's Sheepshead Bay; a bubbly, twenty-something Klanswoman in Tennessee; and a solemn skinhead recruit in Georgia, and learn about why they've tied their fates to these movements. By turns frightening and fascinating, "Everything You Love Will Burn" shows us the new future of political reality in America.

"For the times they are a changing...."

About the author: Vegas Tenold is an award-winning journalist. He has covered the far right in America for years, as well as human rights in Russia, conflict in central Africa and the Middle East, and national security. A graduate of Columbia University's School of Journalism, his work has appeared in publications including the New York Times, Rolling Stone, New Republic, and Al Jazeera America. He was born and raised in Norway, and lives in Brooklyn.

In a long career filled with subversion, British David Irving has a new feather in his cap — as a poster boy for the British government's new campaign against extremists. It is an accolade that comes with mixed feelings. "David John" Irving, former Minister David Cameron's favourite choice to sing the national anthem at the opening of the 2012 Olympic Games, has been chosen to represent the public in his major speech on dealing with non-violent extremists. The speech, scheduled for weekly on "The Right to Life" on the 11th of September, is a rare opportunity for a university to be an outgroup.
